

Course title <English>	社会健康医学と健康政策 Health Policy and Academia		Affiliated department, Job title,Name	Graduate School of Medicine Professor,IMANAKA YUUICHI Graduate School of Medicine Professor,SATO TOSIYA Graduate School of Medicine Professor,FUKUHARA SHIYUNICHI Graduate School of Medicine Professor,KAWAKAMI KOJI Graduate School of Medicine Associate Professor,WADA TAKAHITO Graduate School of Medicine Program-Specific Associate Professor,MIYAKE HIDEHIKO Graduate School of Medicine Professor,NAKAYAMA TAKEO Graduate School of Medicine Professor,KOIZUMI AKIO Graduate School of Medicine Associate Professor,WATANABE NORIO Graduate School of Medicine Assistant Professor,MUSUMARI PATOUMASIKA Center for Southeast Asian Studies Professor,NISHIBUCHI MITSUAKI Graduate School of Medicine Associate Professor,IWAKUMA MIHO Graduate School of Medicine Professor,KATSURA TOSHIKI
	Grade allotted	Professional degree students		Number of credits	2	Course offered year/period
Day/period	Thu.3	Class style	Lecture		Language	Japanese and English
[Outline and Purpose of the Course]
Students will learn about health and healthcare-related systems and policies, as well as the supporting roles of research, human resource development, and other specialized activities. Lectures will be conducted by each of the departments in the School of Public Health based on their individual perspectives, insight, achievements, and research. The lectures will address the systems, policies, and social structures associated with health and health care. In addition, the lectures will examine the contributions of research, human resource development, and other specialized activities that support these systems, policies, and social structures.
[Course Goals]
Through all the lectures provided by the various departments, students will gain a multifaceted and comprehensive understanding of the systems and policies pertaining to health and health care.
[Course Schedule and Contents]
April 14 Health policy: general overview April 21 Policy and system for health care and long-term care April 28 Making of air quality standard
----- Continue to 社会健康医学と健康政策(2) ↓ ↓ ↓

社会健康医学と健康政策(2)

- May 12 Preventive measures for adults: specific health guidance and cancer screening
May 19 Primary care for healthy aging
May 26 Global mental health
June 2 Health communication and health policy
June 9 Infant and school health check-up for individual and health policy development
June 16 Modern history of health policies
June 23 Maternal and child health—system and policy in Japan
June 30 Food poisoning and its prevention: importance of international perspective
July 7 Global health policy
July 14 Policies and regulations in occupational health
July 21 Community health
July 28 Health policy: theory, research and reality

Note: This schedule is subject to change. Overview of the schedule will be shown at the first day.

[Class requirement]

This course is only open to Students in School of Public Health.

[Method, Point of view, and Attainment levels of Evaluation]

1. Report (70%)
2. Classroom participation (30%)

[Textbook]

Reading materials will be distributed as needed.

[Reference books, etc.]

(Reference books)

Reading materials will be distributed as needed.

[Regarding studies out of class (preparation and review)]

Both good preparation and review are needed.

(Others (office hour, etc.))

This course is jointly conducted by the entire School of Public Health.

*Please visit KULASIS to find out about office hours.