

Course title <English>	フィールドワーク Fieldwork		Affiliated department, Job title, Name	Graduate School of Medicine Associate Professor, TABARA YASUHARU Graduate School of Medicine Professor, MATSUDA FUMIHIKO
Target year	Professional degree students	Number of credits	2	Course offered year/period	2018/Intensive, year-round
Day/period	Intensive	Class style	Practical training	Language	Japanese and English
[Outline and Purpose of the Course]
This course offers opportunity to learn a way for data acquisition in a cohort study by participating in a field investigation of the Nagahama study, a community-based cohort study by Kyoto University Graduate School of Medicine. Students are required to participate the health check-up survey at Nagahama City approximately 5 to 6 days during September to January, and to interview with participants and to do several physiological measurements.
[Course Goals]
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Experiencing the real activities in field epidemiology • Learning community healthcare delivered by local governments • Learning how to collect reliable information, how to protect individual information appropriately, how to construct long-term relationship through the communication with people in a community
[Course Schedule and Contents]
1. April, 1st week Orientation @Seminar room A 2. Guidance of the field work @Seminar room A 3-14. Fieldwork in Nagahama City 15. Discussion
[Class requirement]
Japanese conversation skill to communicate with participants
[Method, Point of view, and Attainment levels of Evaluation]
Participation in discussion and fieldwork 90%, Report 10%
[Textbook]
None
[Reference books, etc.]
(Reference books) None
[Regarding studies out of class (preparation and review)]
This class requires participation in the community-based health check-up examination in Nagahama city, Shiga prefecture. Making a report based on field work is to be regarded as review of the class.
(Others (office hour, etc.))
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Students have to attend the first and second class. If you cannot attend them, please contact us before them.
*Please visit KULASIS to find out about office hours.					